ITALIAN KING READY TO GIVE UP RULE

500 HEAVY U. S. BOMBERS HIT NAZI TARGETS

Plane Plants, Rail Yards and Air Fields in 5th Day of Heavy Raids.

By The Associated Press

More than 500 American heavy bombers struck aircraft factories near Vienna today while others pounded the rail yards and airfield of the Croatian capital of Zagreb and yet another fleet swept against Europe from British bases.

The aerial squeeze on Germany from Italy and Britain came after a concentrated RAF night bombing of Aachen, spiderweb center of railways leading to the invasion-threatened coast of northwest Europe.

Many tons of bombs crashed down on the Messerschmitt factories at Wiener Neustadt, 30 miles south of Vienna, to make fresh ruins of the feverish reconstruction work the Germans had been rushing since Fortresses and Liberators worked over the plants last November. Other heavy bombers hit an airplane parts plant at Bad Voslau 10 miles north of Vienna, and a similar target 25 miles northeast. A cement factory at Split in Yugoslavia also was bombed.

In the last four days, American planes have shot 352 German craft from the skies and destroyed many more aground—a rate far faster than damaged Nazi factories can replace.

British airmen, following up yesterday's great assaults on Germany by a fleet of nearly 2,000 American heavy bombers and fighters which fought some of the fiercest sky battles of the war, braved bright moonlight in returning to the reich for the first time since the March 30 Nurnberg raid cost a record of 94 bombers. Last night's attack on multiple targets, however, was carried out with a loss of nine planes.

Vital Rail Line Hit

The air ministry described the blow at Aachen vital rail link between Germany, Belgium and northern France, as heavy and said the bombing was well concentrated.

Indicating that allied aircraft might be striking at the reich today from bases in both Britain and Italy, the German radio said at noon enemy bomber formations were approaching southeast Germany and added planes also had been sighted over southern Germany.

This suggestion was strengthened when the Berlin, Frankfurt and Vienna radios went off the air in rapid succession.

Fresh waves of allied planes, meanwhile, were seen winging their way across the English channel toward Europe in mid-morning.

Aachen, center of an important coal mining and industrial area in the Rhine valley, had not been the target of a major attack since July 13, 1943. Reconnaissance photographs taken after that RAF assault showed 500 acres of the town had been devastated and 80 of its factories hit. Heavy damage also was done to railway tracks, the station and rolling stock.

In the interim, the city had been hit, however, by Mosquito raiders, the last time on April 1.

Center of Rubber Industry

Hannover, the center of the enemy's rubber industry, also is the site of numerous other war plants and has huge railway yards. It has been hit numerous times by both British and American bombers and was raided only last Monday night by Mosquitos.

Red Cross Goal Drawing Nearer

Red Cross war fund drive officials renewed their appeals for "give again" donations after developments of the last two days had whittled the amount they still need down to $2,999.71.

This morning, the war fund total stood at $53,000.29 and officials declared that continued public response might put the figure over the $56,000 goal by the end of the week.

They said many individual gifts are being mailed or delivered to the Red Cross office, and that these have been supplemented by the work of a special committee headed by Chris Turoff that started making call-backs on business places and large individual givers yesterday.

One of the highlights of this week's developments was a $500 additional gift from a large industry that already had given its quota.

All city and rural workers were urged to make final reports by Friday of this week.

THREAT TO JAP LINES IN BURMA

U. S. Trained Chinese Troops Advance; Imphal Situation Unchanged.

By The Associated Press

Allied commanders in southeast Asia subordinated developments in the Japanese offensive into India to report today that the allied offensive into Burma, being carried on at the same time, is spreading steadily southward and now threatens enemy communications in Burma just as allied supply lines in India are menaced by the Nipponese.

These operations, together with daring air-borne invasions behind Japanese lines, have resulted in an allied strangle-hold on the enemy communications system which has its terminus at Myitkyina in northern Burma, Associated Press War Correspondent Clyde Farnsworth reported.

Chinese Advance

The American trained Chinese 38th division, pushing southward along the Mogaung valley in northern Burma, has occupied Tingring after a swift advance from captured Wakawng and allied forces also have thrust across the Panglu river west of the latter village, Admiral Lord Louis Mountbatten's headquarters announced today.

The bulletin added Chinese troops had wiped out a Japanese pocket south of Hpaduyang and west of the Mosaung river.

Little change was reported in the situation around Imphal, Indian communications center toward which the Japanese have been thrusting from three directions, but the communique ack-

DEFENSE TO REDUCE LIST OF WITNESSES

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 12—Amid indications that reliability of certain tests and necessity for others would be questioned, defense counsel worked today to prune out duplicating and secondary witnesses before opening their fight to clear three AAF officers of charges of neglect of duty and conspiracy.

The defendants, accused in connection with what the government says were inspection malpractices at the big Lockland plant of the Wright Aeronautical Corp., are Lt. Col. Frank C. Greulich, former chief inspection officer for the AAF material command, and Major Walter A. Ryan, central states inspection officer, both of Detroit, and Major William Bruckmann of Cincinnati, resident inspection officer at Lockland.

Their counsel promised the court yesterday to cut their prospective witness list of 70 at least in half and save four or five days in the trial. They were granted a continuance until tomorrow morning to accomplish this.

The list of witnesses were closely guarded, but it was indicated some "big names" who had been expected to be called, such as Lt. Gen. William Knudsen, would not appear.

Marion Soldier Whose Brother Died in Last War Is Missing

Staff Sgt. James W. Mitchell Not Accounted for After March 17 Air Action Over Italy.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Mitchell of 124 West Walnut street, whose oldest son died while in service overseas in World war I a quarter of a century ago, last night were notified that another son, Staff Sgt. James W. Mitchell, 35, has been missing in action in service with the air corps over Italy since March 17.

The word was received by Sgt. Mitchell's wife, Mrs. Alice R. Mitchell of 226 Forest Lawn boulevard, in a telegram from the office of the secretary of war. A letter will follow, the telegram stated.

Brother a Pneumonia Victim

Sgt. Mitchell's brother, Pvt. Fleet Mitchell, went overseas with the armed forces in World war I and died of pneumonia in France seven days before signing of the armistice. Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell also have another son serving in the present war—Pvt. H. J. Mitchell, who is stationed with a tank destroyer battalion at Camp Campbell, Ky., and three grandsons, William C. Mitchell, technical sergeant fifth grade, stationed with a medical unit in the South Pacific, Cpl. James Mitchell, with an engineer corps in England, and Ernest Mitchell, a radio student in V-12) Navy training in California. They are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Mitchell of Farmington, Mich.

Sgt. Mitchell's wife also has a son in service, Charles Peters, aviation cadet stationed at Santa Ana Air Base, Santa Ana, Calif.

Served as Waist Gunner

Sgt. Mitchell enlisted in the Army Air Corps at Patterson field, near Dayton, in November 1942 and was an assistant engineer and waist gunner on a B-24. He had been overseas since January this year. Following his training as a ground mechanic at Keesler Field, Miss., Sgt. Mitchell was graduated and received his wings at Harlingen Army Air Force Gunnery school at Harlingen, Tex., in August last year. He took his advanced training at David Monthan Field, Tucson, Ariz., and was stationed at Westover Field, Springfield, Mass., before going overseas.

Sgt. Mitchell was home last in October last year and a letter dated March 17, the day he was reported missing in action, was received by Mrs. Mitchell around March 25. Both his wife and mother received flowers from him on Easter.

In his letter Sgt. Mitchell indicated that he had been on several missions recently.

Prior to going into service he was employed in the foundry at the Marion Steam Shovel Co. plant. He was born in Marion and attended Harding High school.

BRICKER WANTS U. S. TO RETAIN OUTPOSTS

By The Associated Press

TACOMA, Wash., April 12—Retention of outlying ports, radio stations, airports and other bases in the Pacific and around the world that would be necessary for the defense of the United States and its interests, was demanded last night by Gov. Bricker of Ohio, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination.

In the keynote speech of his visit to the Pacific northwest, Bricker assailed President Roosevelt on numerous issues and took the administration to task for what he termed secrecy in representative government.

"The New Deal lives by this hush-hush policy," he declared. "I don't believe there is any place in a people's government for all this tell-the-people nothing attitude."

At another point in his address he said "military security does not include the political security of the New Deal."

The Ohioan's talk was made before an estimated 5,000 persons.

Asking whether America should change presidents in the middle of a war, Bricker answer "England changed leaders in the midst of war and benefitted by it."

"Press reports of May 14, 1940, quote President Roosevelt as saying a two-ocean navy was not necessary," he commented. "Is that the leadership with which we should trust the rehabilitation of the world when peace comes?"

"Press reports of Feb. 26, 1941, quote the President as saying this nation was not in danger of running short of rubber. Is that the indispensable leadership that the people of America must have to rebuild the world when victory comes?"

Governor and Mrs. Bricker were the overnight guests of Governor and Mrs. Arthur B. Langlie in Olympia.

REDS ADVANCE ON NAVAL BASE

Twin Russian Armies Smash Into Crimea Toward Sevastopol.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 12—Twin Russian armies have smashed through shattered German defenses in the Crimean peninsula and are advancing toward the great naval base of Sevastopol, Moscow advices said today, while other Red army troops have fought their way into Tiraspol, Dnestr river port and rail junction 60 miles north of Ovidiopol, bottleneck for the fleeing Odessa garrison.

With but one exception Soviet arms were victorious all along the 500-mile long front extending from the Crimea to the old Czech frontier, a Russian communique declared. This was in the area just west of Skala above the middle Dnestr, where a German relief force cracked a Russian cordon previously thrown around the remnants of 15 Nazi divisions trapped in that area.

Germans Lose Heavily

The German thrust was achieved at the cost of many men and tanks, the Moscow bulletin said. It acknowledged that the Nazis had captured the town of Buczacz (Buchach), midway between Skala and encircled Tarnopol, 80 miles to the northwest.

Marshal Ivan S. Konev's second Ukrainian army, meanwhile, was reported to have struck hard at axis forces in central Romania, storming the important rail junction of Pascani, 55 miles west of the Prut river, and Cristesti, eight miles beyond. Pascani, one hundred and fifty-five miles northeast of the rich Ploesti oilfields, surrendered after 3,000 German and Romanian troops were slain, the Russians said. Near Iasi, fierce axis counter attacks were repulsed, the bulletin added, and several towns captured.

Report Axis Attack

(A Romanian high command communique, broadcast by the Bucharest home radio and recorded in New York by the federal communications commission, said today Romanian and German forces had counter-attacked successfully in northern Noldavia, recapturing the town of Podulluoaiei and Targu-Frumos, respectively 15 and 30 miles west of Iasi.)

Gen. Rodion Y. Malinovsky, whose troops were battling in the streets of Tiraspol, the last Dnestr crossing still open to the Germans aside from Ovidiopal, sent other forces in a dash toward Chisinau, capital of Bessarabia. This column liberated more than 100 towns and villages, seized 30 more localities as they closed in on the capital, Moscow said.

ROOSEVELT AND DEWEY GIVEN GREATER LEADS

New York Governor Keeps Spotlight Despite Illinois, Nebraska Votes.

By The Associated Press

Swiftly-paced political events in New York, Illinois and Nebraska pointed more convincingly than ever today toward Gov. Thomas E. Dewey of New York and President Roosevelt as the probable entrants in November's presidential race.

Despite top-heavy victories for Gen. Douglas MacArthur in the Illinois primary and for Lieut. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen in Nebraska, Governor Dewey remained firmly installed as the peace-setting favorite in the contest for the Republican nomination with 153 pledged and claimed delegates out of the 351 thus far chosen for the party's convention, where 1,059 votes will be cast.

A fourth-term indorsement by the New York state Democratic committee demonstrated anew the party's demand that Mr. Roosevelt again be a candidate. Mr. Roosevelt was assured the support of nearly all of the 96 New York delegates, 50 elected in yesterday's Illinois primary and 12 chosen in the Nebraska primary.

New York democrats unanimously reelected Chairman James A. Farley, who has told friends he is opposed to a fourth term, but national committee leaders had worked for this result to avoid a threatened split in the ranks there. Farley will be a convention delegate.

Illinois Vote Heavy for Gen. MacArthur

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 12 — Gen. Douglas MacArthur emerged today with a smashing demonstration of strength in Illinois' presidential preference primary, leading other G.O.P. state candidates on the ticket except Gov. Dwight H. Green.

MacArthur, entered in the presidential preference primary without his authorization, was given no opposition from Riley Bender, Chicago real estate man. He piled up a vote comparative in size to the totals polled by most of the leading candidates for state office.

The result of the contest, while not binding, was considered by his supporters to give an indication of his political strength in the midwest and to impress the state's delegation to the Republican national convention.

There were write-in votes for presidential possibilities whose names were not on the ballot. With final returns not tabulated, President Roosevelt received more than 500 votes in several counties. On the Republican side there were votes cast for Gov. Thomas E. Dewey, Wendell Willkie, Lieut. Comdr. Harold E. Stassen, Gov. Bricker and Col. Robert R. McCormick.

Disappearance of Girl from India In N. Y. Snowstorm Shrouded in Mystery

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 12—Snow, driven by a hard wind, swirled through the early morning blackness of Riverside drive as Valsa Matthai, exquisite daughter of India, stepped from an elevator of Columbia university's International House, and disappeared.

It was as though the earth swallowed the 21-year-old student.

It was on March 20, and the sleepy-eyed elevator operator who was the last person known to have seen her could not even say whether she had left the building.

Time and a nationwide search by police, federal men and private investigators have turned up not a single clue.

Although educated in the western world the girl usually wore her native costume.

An Excellent Student

"She was an excellent student," a member of the university's business school faculty said, and "everyone thought she was fascinating, with her dark skin and eyes. She spoke beautiful English."

Oddly, Valsa, when she disappeared, was wearing dark gray flannel slacks and a typically American tan polo coat. Police estimated she had only small change with her when she dropped from sight.

Her bed had not been slept in. Police said no outside summons could have reached her room after 11:30 p. m.

Acting Captain John J. Cronin of the missing persons bureau said he had virtually eliminated the theories of kidnaping and amnesia because no ransom notes had been received and because of her medical history. He also discounted the idea that Indian politics had played any part in the disappearance.

Had Many Friends

She had many friends, but no romance was uncovered in the painstaking search, Cronin said.

Flood Waters Rise, Closing School and Roads in Marion Co.

Ohio Lowlands Covered as Rain Further Delays Spring Planting; Storms Cause 49 Deaths In Nation.

Floodwaters swept over Ohio lowlands today, closing a number of roads, some schools and flooding thousands of acres.

In Marion county, one school and at least three roads were closed.

Floods and windstorms were blamed for 49 deaths in the nation, most of them in tornadoes in Arkansas.

Farmers, already delayed in their spring planting program, heard the discouraging forecast that no relief from rains is in sight.

LaRue School, Several Roads Closed by Water

Flood waters grew deeper over several sections of Marion county today, closing the LaRue schools, blocking a section of one state highway, closing two county roads and threatening to close others. Many more acres of farm land were covered.

Water in the basement of the LaRue school building made it impossible to heat the building, so no classes were held today. If there is no additional rain, it was thought classes might be resumed tomorrow.

Water was over North High, East Vine and East Market streets in LaRue.

State route 203 between Newmans and Prospect was closed at 7 a. m. today and the Scioto river in that vicinity was expected to rise most of today.

The river was approaching a depth of 10 feet at Prospect—a depth of 8.80 causes the river to reach the highway north of there.

County Engineer Walter Johnson reported his assistants had closed one road northwest of Meeker where the Tymochtee creek had overflowed and another southeast of LaRue where Scioto river flood waters had covered the roadway.

The state highway department said there is water over several sections of highway and that high water signs have been posted and highways will be closed if the water becomes threateningly deep.

Heavy Rains Flood Hardin Co. Lowlands

Special to The Star

KENTON, O., April 12—Swelled by nearly two inches of rain in a 24-hour period, Hardin county streams today inundated lowlands and poured a silt-filled flood into territory on eight side of the drainage divide which cuts Kenton in two.

Farmers said fields were covered and that it would be at least a week before plowing and spring cultivation can be resumed. Only a few scattered acres of oats have been sowed, and plowing is far behind normal, leaders said.

Berms were washed badly along state highways and a few culverts along county roads were partially washed out. However, traffic was maintained on all highways, road maintenance men said.

Storms Over Most of U. S. Leave Trail of 49 Dead

By The Associated Press

Storms which battered most of the United States the past two days leaving 49 persons known dead subsided today after a final swing at the eastern seaboard and the Great Lakes area.

Nearly 200 persons were injured in the tornadoes, rain squalls, wind storms and snow storms from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic ocean. Lighter rains extended to California.

Many remained homeless in Kansas and Oklahoma as rivers continued flooding in the wake of torrential rains. A forecast of clearing and colder weather promised some relief, but several streams had not reached predicted crests.

Arkansas, with 35 dead in a series of tornadoes, was the worst sufferer. Six were killed in Ft. Wayne, Ind., by a wall blown over by a high wind. North Carolina, Alabama, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Texas, Kentucky, Georgia, and Tennessee each re-

GERMAN CASSINO ATTACK REPULSED

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, NAPLES, April 12—The Germans launched a small attack against allied troops defending the hills north of Cassino yesterday and stepped up the tempo of their shelling and mortaring of Castle Hill just behind the rubbled town, but the attack was thrown back hard and allied guns answered the barrage with sharp fire of their own, headquarters announced today.

Castle Hill, overlooking almost all of Cassino, has been a sharp thorn in the side of the Germans and they have tried repeatedly to take it. The castle itself is but a pile of rocks from months of shelling, first by the allies and then by the Nazis.

On the Ancio beachhead, a small enemy party attempted a minor thrust three miles southwest of Carroceto and two other parties tried to cross the Moletta river near the coast, but all these thrusts were repulsed. The Nazis attempting to cross the Moletta were brought under heavy mortar fire and suffered casualties.

German guns continued to shell the rear and port areas of the beachhead and 12 planes made what was described as an ineffectual raid on the port. One of the planes was downed by anti-aircraft fire.

Final Plans Made For Hospital Dedication

As city officials today made final preparations for the public opening and formal dedication Sunday of the addition to Marion City hospital, Mayor H. L. Dowler announced that the brief dedication will be held at 2:30 p. m. instead of 2 p. m. as previously planned. Details of the program were being worked out today.

The hospital annex will be open for public inspection from 10 a. m. to 8 p. m.

WILL STEP OUT WHEN ALLIES ENTER ROME

Emanuele Tells People He Will Turn Over Authority to Crown Prince.

By The Associated Press

NAPLES, April 12—Tired and bereft of empire, King Vittorio Emanuele III proclaimed to his people and the world today that he would turn over the power of the throne to his six-foot son Umberto, 39, the prince of Piedmont, on the day allied troops enter Rome.

The 74-year-old monarch declared he would appoint his son "lieutenant-general of the realm," would retire entirely from public affairs, and that his decision was "final and irrevocable."

Thus Vittorio Emanuele, whose 43-year reign is the longest since that of Queen Victoria of Britain, yielded provisionally to the pressure of Italian liberal leaders who have refused to form a democratic government in Italy while he remained on the throne.

Sees Brighter Future

"The day shall come," said the king, who Benito Mussolini so long eclipsed, "when our deep wounds will be healed and we shall take once more our place as a free people among free nations."

Allied representatives, who had called on the king yesterday, said the only part the allies had in this development was to assure the king that they would have no objection to his taking such a step. However, Robert Murphy, U. S. representative on the allied advisory commission for Italy, said the king's action "augurs well for the future." He expressed belief it would lead to a more stable government of more democratic nature.

The king's action opened the way for a new war government, with at least three and possibly five of Italy's political parties willing to participate.

An official spokesman at the seat of the government of Marshal Pietro Badoglio said the king's statement, which was broadcast to the Italian people early this afternoon, was "a spontaneous announcement by his majesty" who "decided to make the statement at this time in order to eliminate any obstacle that might still exist in the efforts by various political parties to reach full cooperation with the Italian government.

"The king's statement is directed to all parties without exception in behalf of the effort of the entire nation to achieve true national unity."

Text of Announcement

Text of the king's announcement:

"The Italian people know that I have always been at their side in difficult times and in happy ones. They know that eight months ago I put an end to the fascist regime and brought Italy, notwithstanding every danger and risk, to the side of the United Nations in a struggle for liberation against Nazism.

"The Italian navy, air force and army have been obedient to my call during the past eight months and have been fighting undauntedly against the enemy shoulder to shoulder with the allied forces. The Italian contribution to victory is and shall ever be more great. The day shall come when our deep wounds will be healed and we shall take once more our place as a free people among free nations.

"Putting into effect what I have suggested to allied authorities and to my government, I have decided to withdraw from public affairs by appointing my son, the Prince of Piedmont, lieutenant general of the realm.

"This appointment will become effective by formal transfer of power on the day on which allied troops enter Rome.

"This decision would, I firmly

HEALTH QUIZ

	YES	NO
Do you have poor digestion?	☐	☐
Do you feel headachy after eating?	☐	☐
Do you get sour or upset easily?	☐	☐
Do you feel tired—listless?	☐	☐

Now everyone knows that to get the good out of the food you eat—you must digest it properly. But what most people don't know is that Nature must produce about two pints of the digestive juice—liver bile—each day to help digest your food. If Nature fails, your food may remain undigested, lie sour and heavy within you.

Thus, it is simple to see that one way to aid digestion is to increase the flow of liver bile. Now, Carter's Little Liver Pills start to increase this flow quickly for thousands—often in as little as thirty minutes. When bile flow increases, your digestion may improve. And, soon you're on the road to feeling better—which is what you're after.

Don't depend on artificial aids to counteract indigestion—when Carter's, taken as directed, aid digestion after Nature's own order. Get Carter's Little Liver Pills today—only 25¢. You'll be glad you did.

300 MILLION GOVERNMENT CHECKS...

That's the enormous total of wartime check payments by the Government to families of those in armed services, Social Security beneficiaries, and others who render service or supply goods to the nation. This flood of checks has attracted crooks and forgers, just as honey attracts bees. And they have been reaping a lucrative, though vicious, harvest.

Warning If you receive Government checks, observe these precautions for your own safety. They are recommended by the United States Secret Service, Treasury Department:

1 — MAIL BOX. Crooks generally steal checks from mail boxes. Be sure yours is strong, lock it securely mark it plainly with your name. Try to be home when checks are due to arrive. Have the postman signal you when he delivers mail from the Government.

2 — ENDORSING. Don't endorse until you are at the place where check is to be deposited or cashed. Safeguard checks at all times.

3 — CASH IT in the same place each month so your identity may be established.

4 — IF CHECK FAILS TO ARRIVE when due, notify proper Government department. Also inform them, as well as the post office, of change in your address

A Sensible Safeguard is to have a checking account and deposit all checks you receive in it. You can pay bills by bank checks, eliminating the need of carrying cash, and you need ask no one to cash your Government checks for you.

Veterans' Rehabilitation Subject of Marion Talk.

Lt. Governor Paul Herbert was guest speaker when Bird-McGinnis Post No. 162, American Legion met Tuesday night. Mr. Herbert's talk dealt with veterans' rehabilitation.

He emphasized that men should be given a chance to complete their education if the war had temporarily stopped it. The state has already set up schools in cooperation with colleges where men may take courses to fill gaps in their high school work, Mr. Herbert said.

Education also has been planned for men who are physically unable to return to positions which they held before the war in order that they may be trained to do other types of work, he explained.

Citing the need for adequate hospitals, Mr. Herbert mentioned that additions are being built to hospitals already filled.

Mr. Herbert praised the American Legion for the work which it has been doing in organizing men already discharged from service in the present war, stating that the Legion is a powerful organization and could obtain many benefits for veterans through unity of purpose.

Lt. Gov. Herbert is a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor.

About 100 members attended. A membership contest now in progress has built the total post membership to nearly 280. It is hoped that the figure will reach 300 by May. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Evelyn Reynolds.

The Stars Say—

For Thursday, April 13

WHILE THERE is portent of stubborn obstacles or other difficult situations to vanquish there is splendid promise of success, distinguished achievement as well as the ultimate assurance of attaining high ambitions or noteworthy objectives. Concentration of the energies and talents, as well as real resources should attract the solid approval and financial aid of those in power and influence. Personal integrity and sound abilities find their own reward amongst a welter of impediments and frustrating circumstances. Prudence and perseverance win out.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of sound and solid achievement, perhaps beyond the highest expectations, because of a practical and constructive grasp of opportunities against obstacles, impediments, delays or other disappointing situations. Persistent and patient effort, with attention to detail and systematic handling of a bad situation is likely to win the substantial support of those in position and power, in the determination to win cherished objectives against many odds and delays. Be prudent in domestic or affectional relations and keep up morale and physical well being, and enduring rewards are in sight.

A child born on this day may have much ambition with talents to attain the best although beset with obstructions and delays. Its reliability should attract the approbation of those in power.

Dewey Increases Lead in Poll of Michigan G.O.P.

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion

PRINCETON, N. J., April 12—Wendell Willkie, as he bowed out of the Republican candidate race last week, was running in popular support far behind Thomas E. Dewey in the Mid-Western state of Michigan, where the New York governor tops the list of Republican preferences among G. O. P voters.

While Dewey was showing support of the majority of Michigan voters who prefer a Republican as next President, Willkie was tied for second position with Douglas MacArthur, with support totaling 15 per cent.

This is further evidence of the difficulty Willkie would have faced in winning popular support in the Mid-West, had he stayed in the race.

Persons interviewed in an intensive cross-section survey of the entire state were asked to pick, from a card containing names of those most frequently mentioned as possible candidates, the one man they would like to see next President of the United States.

On the basis of those who chose a Republican candidate possibility, following is a tabulation of Michigan preferences, as compared with that of a survey made in February:

	Today	Feb., '43
Dewey	55%	47%
Willkie	15	19
MacArthur	15	16
Bricker	6	8
Stassen	6	7

More Victory Gardens Urged by Wickard

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, April 12—Saying "the biggest hurdles on the food front still are before us," Claude R. Wickard, secretary of agriculture yesterday declared there must be an increase in victory gardens in 1944 to assure that no servicemen or civilians would go hungry.

The secretary said in a prepared address that victory gardeners contributed an estimated 40 per cent of fresh vegetables grown in the United States but that there had been a complacency in some quarters that boded for a lower rating this year.

As an example of how the government viewed the situation, he added, the 1944 goal was 22,000,000 gardens, two million more than in 1943.

Estonia is about twice the size of Vermont.

Tough Job Ahead, Eisenhower Tells U. S. Fighter Pilots

By The Associated Press

A U. S. FIGHTER BASE, ENGLAND, April 12—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower told a group of American fighter pilots yesterday that they soon would be flying from dawn to dusk in a great land, sea and air offensive of western Europe that would crush the Germans completely.

The supreme allied commander for the western front invasion said he would demand of the pilots everything they have, that he would drive them so hard they would have to forego proper food and sleep for weeks. But he declared emphatically that they would knock the Nazis out.

He made his address during a busy day in which he inspected three U. S. airbases and presented distinguished service crosses to two ace Mustang pilots and, with a brightly-draped bottle of Mississippi river water, christened a new Flying Fortress bearing his picture and nickname—"General Ike."

The medals were awarded to Capt. Don S. Gentile, 23, of Piqua, O., leading American fighter pilot of this theater, and Col. Donald J. M. Blakesley, 26, Fairport Harbor, O., commander of Gentile's fighter group, which has destroyed more German planes than any other group in this theater.

How New Draft Order Will Affect Various Age Groups

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 12 — Draft-age men up to 38—now that selective service (SS) has ordered the draft of all men possible under 26—well can ask themselves' But how does this affect me?

The order will have to be carried out in different ways because the various draft boards have different problems and only this much—can be answered simply:

There is to be a clean sweep of the men 18 through 25, except those deferred for super-essentiality.

Does this mean no men over 26 will be drafted until all those under 26 are drafted? No.

Men 26 to 38, not in war jobs or war-related jobs or jobs considered necessary in their community, will be drafted right along with the 18-26 group without any delay.

But SS has ordered that the 26-38 men, whose jobs the boards consider essential, are not to be inducted until the 18-26 group is taken. The reason: The Army and Navy want the 18-26 men most and want them first.

Different Situations

And even the decision on who is essential will vary from board to board. A cook might be unessential in a town full of cooks. But in a war town lacking cooks he might be considered locally necessary.

There also is this problem. Board AAA has 100 men under 26, board BBB has only three men under 26. What happens?

Board AAA delays drafting men over 26—except those nonessentially employed — and concentrates on the men under 26 until it has taken them all.

Board BBB takes the three men under 26 and goes right on trying to fill its quota with the older men.

But what about the over-26 men who were found acceptable for service and were ordered to report for induction this week? Must they report?

Yes, unless they have been notified personally by their boards not to report. If they have any doubts about this, they had better go to their local board for advice.

Postponement Intended

Their induction was meant to be postponed. SS said so. But some boards are going right ahead, permitting them to be inducted, at least for the remainder of this week. Some boards have stopped such inductions.

Does all this mean some boards will forget about quotas altogether—so far as the 18-26 group is concerned—and just make a clean up of all the men they have in that group even when this means going beyond the usual quota for that board?

SS says yes but points out that comparatively few boards will be able to exceed their usual quotas in a draft of the 18-26 group because so few have that many young men left

How long will induction over 26-38 men be postponed generally?

No accurate estimate is possible. For some, there may be no delay. For others, where boards have many in the 18-26 group, the delay may be up to 90 days.

PREDICTS CLOSING OF SUNDAY SCHOOLS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 12 — Many Sunday schools will be forced to close their doors in a few years unless attendance declines are halted, a religious educator warns.

Seventy per cent of all children in the United States get no religious education and are growing up to be "pagans," Dr. Clarence H. Benson of Chicago, founder of the Evangelical Training association, yesterday told a meeting of the National Association of Evangelicals.

He estimated that at the present rate of decline there would be no Presbyterian Sunday schools in 15 years and no Protestant Episcopal Sunday schools in 11 years.

Dr. Benson said the Sunday school movement in this country was at its peak at the turn of the century, and the decline has been gradual since that time.

He warned that church membership would be reduced by half in many denominations except Lutheran, where a one per cent increase in Sunday school attendance has been noted, unless a determined drive is made to bring children back into the church. Seventy-five per cent of all church members are recruited from Sunday schools, the educator explained.

He urged improvement of Sunday school standards, revival of Sunday school conventions, and the adoption of legislation to require children to attend Sunday school.

Dr. J. Elwrin Wright of Boston, field secretary of the association, said the organization's primary function was to bring together the conservative wings of Protestantism.

WANTS STREET, SHIP NAMED FOR OHIO

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 12—A battleship and a Washington street will be named for Ohio if Rep. Thomas A. Jenkins, Republican, of Ironton, O., has his way.

Observing that few if any other states lacked such honors, Jenkins today said he would take up the matter with congress and the proper government departments.

He is preparing to address the house on the subject after congress ends the current Easter recess.

Jenkins wants an important thoroughfare called "Ohio" in recognition of the state's place in the nation's political and economic history. No other state, save Virginia, has produced more presidents, he contends.

A battleship should be named Ohio, meaning an Indian language "Beautiful River," because the state has a proud naval history despite the fact it is far from either the Atlantic or Pacific coasts, the congressman said

It was off Ohio shores on Lake Erie that Commodore Oliver Hazard Perry beat off the British in the war of 1812. And, Jenkins, noted, Admiral Ernest J. King, commander of the United States fleet and chief of naval operations in the present war, is an Ohioan, born in Lorain.

A few years ago former Rep. Dudley White (R) of Sandusky introduced a bill to authorize the renaming of a thoroughfare for the state but it never got through congress.

PROFESSIONAL ENGINEERS HEAR TALK ON DIESELS

Detroit Sales Official Speaks to District Group.

[illegible] Anderson, sales engineer [illegible] Detroit Diesel Engine division, General Motors Corp., [illegible] on the principles of design and operation of the Diesel engine when he appeared at a meeting of the Marion chapter of the Ohio Society of Professional engineers held Monday night at Hotel Harding. Guest day was observed and 50 members and guests attended a dinner served before Mr. Anderson's talk.

Mr. Anderson explained the advantages of the two-cycle Diesel engine over the gasoline engine now in common use. Reduced cost of maintenance, operation and longer life make up for the greater initial price of Diesel installations, he said.

Present production of Diesel engines is almost entirely for consumption by the armed forces, Mr. Anderson said. He showed slides illustrating new developments in Diesel engines which will be available for industrial use after the war.

In an open forum period questions on installation of the engine in automobiles were answered. Mr. Anderson expressed doubt that Diesel engines would come into general use in either the automotive line or in aircraft because the cost is prohibitive and its great weight would make its use in airplanes impractical.

Floyd Browne, president of the Marion chapter, welcomed guests. Steve Kuhner, program chairman, announced that the next meeting will be held in Delaware. Plans call for a talk on recent operations in the Alcan highway. At a future Marion meeting a discussion will be held on the development of the gas turbine engine.

It Will Bear Discussion

MORE important than anything Secretary of State Hull said Sunday in his over-long and somewhat formidable address on foreign policy is the fact he spoke.

It was the second time within a few weeks that Mr. Hull had talked about foreign policy to the people—after a silence of many years. He recognizes that the subject has come alive in popular interest.

The people have decided it will bear more discussion than it has been getting. They are curious. Theirs is not the curiosity of administration-baiters, homegrown reds and finger-crooking do-gooders interested in belaboring the state department for special purposes; theirs is the curiosity of the 135,000,000 Americans whose "interests and purposes," in the words of Secretary Hull, must be served by foreign policy.

It is probable that over a period of months, if the secretary continues to explain and the subject continues to be explored, the objective of complete popular understanding of the subject may be reached. It is plainly not something to be mastered in one easy term, nor even in several of Mr. Hull's hard lessons. The rate of progress is not to be measured by the speed of assimilation, but rather by the alacrity with which Mr. Hull is responding to the demand for information.

It must be evident even to those who disagree categorically with everything that has been done, because they have some special ax to grind, that Americans are uniquely favored by the composition of their political society. Of all nations whose intentions and procedures in the field of foreign relations are important at this time, only the United States can expect to discuss them in the open. Foreign policy will bear discussion in that sense, too. On the assumption this government has nothing to hide, it is being urged by its own citizens not to hide anything.

Odessa, Unfortunate City

THE disengagement of German forces from Odessa after two and a half years of occupation was carried out with wholesale additions to the destruction by which the invaders captured the city from its defenders in the fall of 1941.

The military transfer of control from Germans to Russians, important as it is, thus becomes for the city's polyglot population another tragedy in Odessa's long history of misfortunes. The city was born to turmoil; the site was chosen first as a Tatar fort in the 16th century. It passed from the Tatars to the Turks, then to the Russians. In this century, the Russians, themselves, have contributed to its misfortunes with outbreaks of violence. It became a hotly contested prize in the revolution during World war I. It was bombarded by the French fleet. Before its capture by the Soviet in 1920, at least a third of its houses were destroyed. Its history since then had been more favorable up to the beginning of the war with Germany, but the city's great potentialities always have been barred from complete realization by the shadow of misfortune. A century of uninterrupted peace, if it could be granted, would only begin to make up for the centuries of strife which have made Odessa one of the most unfortunate of the world's great cities.

Only France Can Decide

THE bitter division of Free French opinion between Gen. Charles de Gaulle and Gen. Henri Honore Giraud, each representing a positive faction in the struggle for control of a liberated France, illustrates Secretary of State Hull's remarks on the subject of our foreign policy intentions.

Secretary Hull said in his statement last Sunday that the United States has no intention of recognizing any organization as the government of France before there is a France to be governed. This government is interested only in utilizing the patriotism and skill of Frenchmen to assist in the liberation of their country from German rule. "Our central and abiding purpose," he declared, "is to aid the French people, our oldest friends, in providing a democratic, competent, and French administration of liberated French territory."

There is room in such a purpose for all Frenchmen of good faith. If, on the other hand, Frenchmen, themselves choose to be divided in preparations for restoring the sovereignty of their country, it is not reasonable to ask this government to make sweeping concessions to any particular faction. The political future of France is something that only France can decide, after the circumstances for a free decision have been created. The intercession of the United States is, at this point, military, not political. It is being made infinitely more difficult by all those who, for various reasons, prefer to put politics first.

So They Say—

This is the first war in centuries we've had the luxury to stay out of—and we're belligerently neutral because of this.—Robert Brennan, Eire minister to the U. S.

The promised land is not now so far off. If necessary we have got to hazard all and give our lives that others may enjoy it.—Gen. Sir Bernard L. Montgomery.

News Behind the News

Hull Speech Is Seen as Temperate, Hopeful Pleading for Unity, Harmony After War.

By PAUL MALLON

WASHINGTON, April 12 — The Hull major declaration of foreign policy sounded on the radio like merely a temperate, hopeful, persistence for the announced American position.

It was received as such in congress and the press where comment was favorable, but in similar general terms.

Those who know him were able to interpret the generalized phrases more specifically and get a much clearer picture of what he is up to, somewhat like this:

Mr. Hull said he wants "an international organization." By that, he means a continuation of the cooperative arrangement of the big four and other nations, not a league of nations set up as some suppose.

What he personally has in mind is an arrangement like United Nations relief and rehabilitation administration, with an executive council of the major powers, and smaller regional councils. This would be a deliberative body (an unofficial congress) which would make recommendations for action to the governments—but not act itself for the nations.

No International Army

Most people do not know it, but Hull never has stood for an international police force. This time, he said he wants "maintenance of adequate forces to preserve peace," meaning individual armies of separate nations, not an international army, although he seems to desire that these armies be subject to recommendations for call from the "international organization."

Also, he wants an international court, renunciation of wars, free democratic government in Europe, elimination of tariff and monetary barriers, world improvements in labor and nutrition, and such matters more easily defined.

Now this is a far cry from the Wallace administration program (Halfway to Communism," "Quart of Milk a Day," etc.) or even the announcements of policy by former state Under-Secretary Sumner Welles (an international police force, and a world order similar in its vague new revolutionized oneness to the one implied but likewise never defined by Willkie.)

Unity Wanted

Above all—and the main point of difference—Hull wants unity on whatever is done. He wants Britain, Russia and the United States satisfied, and their satisfaction firmly rooted in their self-interests, because he probably realizes any superficial settlement will be words that will turn out to be meaningless in eventual action. His whole outline also sought domestic unity and non-partisanship, as if to say he would be glad to have any one take this up (some Republicans in congress favorably commented accordingly.)

This then is surely the Hull program, and it also seems to be the administration program since Welles has departed and Wallace has started chasing domestic "Fascists" (whom only he and the Communists can see and neither can identify) instead of prescribing world utopias.

Mr. Roosevelt is not so deeply committed publicly as any of his servants in or out of favor, but stands as far as the record is concerned, on his four freedoms, Teheran and other unspecific declarations without vocal interpretations.

Now DeGaulle has tried to stretch these facts wider by implying Hull went further than Mr. Roosevelt and reversed the President's critical attitude toward the French Committee of Liberation. He did not.

Attitude Toward DeGaulle

The basic administration policy has been that DeGaulle's committee can not be recognized as the government of France, because it is not the government. Hull did not advance that policy a whit. That DeGaulle chose to interpret otherwise is another example of why he is so little liked in any of the major capitals of the world.

But whether Mr. Hull will succeed in his present campaign to stop criticism by reasonable arguments and enlist unity, is truly subject to heavy doubts. Leftists everywhere including this country, seem less interested in the permanency of future world peace than whether they can land on top in every government.

This will cause many to ask whether Hull has much chance of getting the "truly democratic governments" he wants in Europe, or whether they are not more likely to fall to such indescribable control as represented by the French committee, which is part Communist, part state capitalism, and even part National Socialist (as it wants government ownership of most business, including transportation, utilities, and only limited private enterprise for small business, with overall extreme nationalism.)

Hull, at least, stil has hope.

More Than Air Power Needed

By Jack Stinnett
Associated Press Writer.

WASHINGTON, April 12—The advocates of all-out airpower as a means of defeating the enemy aren't making much noise these days and for good reason—the war has disproved their contentions on several fronts.

Gen. Ira Eaker's recent statement that the air armadas over Cassino and the Anzio beachhead had accomplished all they were expected to, put the final fillip on the dream of knocking enemies out of the war by bombing alone.

Amid war secrecy, strategists here have been working along these lines for months, but not without some argument from those who still held that blockbusters would win the war.

As I wrote some weeks ago, Tarawa got the worst drubbing of any square mile of land subjected to air attack up to that time. Yet the Marines who landed there fought the greatest battle and suffered the greatest percentage of casualties in their long history.

Cassino Experienced

At Cassino, an even greater air bombardment was laid down, yet the enemy clung to that stronghold and the Allied forces were stalled. There never was any question of our air supremacy over the Anzio beachhead, yet that effort to flank the enemy still is abortive.

In spite of overwhelming superiority in the air on the entire Italian front, we never were able to prevent the Nazis from bringing up sufficient supplies and reinforcements to stop the Allied advance.

Not long ago, the war department issued a statement on the bombing of Germany. It was remarkable for two reasons. It made no claims whatever that we are knocking Germany out of the war by bomb runs over vital war industries. It did emphasize that our own air force and the RAF are making great gains in destruction of Nazi fighter plane strength, both by planes shot down in the air and by the interruption of production of factories on the ground.

That's pretty mild, in view of opinions of airpower advocates a year or so ago that merely blanketing cities with bombs would cause our enemies to yell uncle.

Fortunate Mistake

The airpower advocates overplayed their hand and it is well they did. If they hadn't we wouldn't have the air force we have today. The mossbacks in the Army and Navy wanted to go on fighting as World War I was fought.

The danger is that failure of those claims to stand up, may let both public and the strategists again drop into the fault of underestimating airpower. Without it, no army can win, but it's apparent now that the army must be there in a force sufficient to defeat the enemy on the ground.

If there is any doubt that the strategists have come to that conclusion, it may be dispelled by the fact that it's no secret now that for months the War Production Board has given top priority in materials and labor to landing craft.

Invasion Money

By The Associated Press

SAN FRANCISCO — Drifting into this seaport is United States invasion money, with the word "Hawaii" printed across its face, which the Federal Reserve bank urges San Franciscans to turn in to the nearest bank. The word "Hawaii" was printed on the money to prevent world circulation if it fell into enemy hands.

Will Russia Keep Romanian Oil Fields?

By Gareth Muchmore

AS THE Russian army moves into Romania, the vital problem of foreign-owned property becomes pressing.

Oil men count as lost the pipelines and other distribution facilities, many of them American-owned, in Bessarabia, the Romanian province now within what Russia considers its natural boundaries.

Russia recognizes no foreign private ownership of industry based on natural resources. The United States companies which opened and developed the great Russian oil fields in the Caucasus were booted out.

Areas in which American, British, Dutch, Belgian and French companies were active are about to come under Russian military control in Romania. Russia certainly will seize the territory, for the excellent reason that Romania has been oiling much of Germany's mechanized war. The question is: When Russian troops are through with their military mission, who then will own the oil fields?

The Russians have partly cleared that up by saying they don't want Romanian territory, or to alter the existing social structur of Romania. They left considerable room, however, for interpretation.

If Russia intended to infer she would recognize "existing" property rights in Romania, foreign oil companies might find themselves stripped of their concessions. Some have been expropriated and others acquired by German-controlled firms.

The Romanian government took several properties in 1940. The Russians, as noted, apparently have taken claim to facilities in Bessarabia.

IT IS unlikely Russia will recognize German-inspired changes in ownership, but might recognize them in part. It is pointed out that the Soviet Union has decided to keep the boundaries established prior to June 22, 1941, the German invasion date, that resulted from the non-agression agreement with Germany.

Or, it might claim these extra-legal acquisitions of Germany as recompense for damage suffered at Nazi hands.

Carrying that a step further, there might develop a question regarding factories in Germany itself, owned by foreign subsidiaries of United States, British and Dutch concerns but technically German.

Another question strongly emphasized by oil men familiar with Russian attitudes is whether Red influence will be felt through the surrounding areas to such an extent that smaller nations would imitate Russian policy and decree against foreign or even private ownership.

An oil spokesman, veteran of many years in Romanian fields but now independent of big-company interest, when asked his opinion declared:

"The question will be answered by the kind of government set up in Romania, and whether Russia will recognize American claims.

"In other words, discussion here is futile; the answer lies in Russian foregin policy.

"Stalin will influence all of Romania, if you want my guess, although he is taking only part of what for 25 years we knew as Romania. Just as he now influences the Yugoslav partisans, he probably will have a finger, too, in the Bulgarian and Hungarian pies.

Hungarian oil resources, incidentally, along with those of the remaining Balkan nations, also were being developed before the war by American companies and pose similar questions of ownership.

OIL COMPANIES in allied nations have lost touch with their properties, which in some instances were turned over to native, resident managers. They keep as well informed as they can by studying reports which seep out of Nazi-dominated Europe.

Standard Oil's last American representative left Romania in October, 1941. The company had a man in Hungary, however, up to January, 1942.

Standard had about 10 or 12 per cent of Romanian production, Shell about 25 per cent, and other British, Belgian and French concerns the balance.

After the last war, in which British troops occupied the famed Ploesti area, American interests not only got back their concessions and properties, but received reparations for damage done and losses incurred.

World War a Year Ago

APRIL 12, 1943

By The United Press

In Battle of Tunisia, Allied armies occupy Sousse and Kairouan on morning of April 11; French capture the important heights around Pichon; to the north, the British push forward in the Munchar sector.

Italian High Command reports evacuation of Sfax and Kairouan by German and Italian forces "in consequence of movements toward new positions on the Tunisian front."

One hundred Jap planes raid Port Moresby, New Guinea; 31 lost.

Soviet communique reports further futile attempts by German troops to break through Russian lines of defenses; report more than 2,000 Nazis killed in series of sorties of the Volkhovo front below Leningrad.

Ability To Pay

Taxes are soaring, but Federation of Tax Administrators finds after studying pre-war and war-time collections that the increase of 141 per cent in total collections between 1939 and 1943 represents a rise of only .5 per cent in proportion to the rising national income during the same years.

Three levels of government—federal, state and local—collected $12,602,000,000 during the fiscal year 1939, which represented 18.5 of national income for that year. Total collections of $30,398,000,000 for fiscal year 1943 represented 23.5 per cent of the national income that year.

National income, excluding undisturbed corporate earnings, rose 90 per cent during the five-year period, from $66,021,000,000 to $129,350,000,000.

Relatively moderate increase of total tax collections in proportion to national income is explained, the federation says, by the fact local taxes decreased, not only in proportion to growing national income but in absolute amount, while state collections during the period did not keep pace with the swift rise in national income. The bulk of the increase was in federal collections—360 per cent from 1939 to 1943. On the basis of percentage of national income, the federal increase was from 7 per cent of national income to 16.9 per cent—approximately a 10 per cent rise.

Hemingway in Hiding

By The Associated Press

HAVANA—Ernest Hemingway, never noted for a retiring nature, shies away from publicity about his luxuriant new beard that in Havana is fast becoming a landmark like Morro Castle.

The beard is fully-developed, covers the checks, chin, jowls and is wholly utilitarian. It keeps the biting tropical sun at his favorite fishing grounds off his tender facial skin. But he won't let cameramen near him.

The Once Over

By H. I. PHILLIPS

The Crewless Bomber

A LIBERATOR bomber, riddled by flak and abandoned by all but two of her crew who were dead, flew 150 miles in formation after a raid over Germany. "It followed its straight course," said Lieut. [illegible] Bell, skipper of another bomber. "When we neared England we radioed for instructions and were told to shoot it down. Just then it [illegible] gracefully in a wide sweep and then dove [illegible] into the channel."—News item.

With none aboard to guide it through the air?—
With no one there to pilot it so true
I say, my boy, you are mistaken there
For someone sailed her, though unseen by you.
Alone, you say the ship made straight the way?
Alone! What nonsense is this that you give,
With oh so many hands brought into play—
And all the help of those who die yet live?

II

Behold the great ship sailing tranquilly.
No panic and no flutterings of fear
Look closer and a company you'll see
Of flying men who keep her in the clear!....
What held her in formation, like a gull?
Blind luck? The wind and sundry other breaks?
No, she had pilots quite infallible.
A thousand, fit to give her what it takes!

III

Abandoned, sir! Is that the word you use
Abandoned! Can a ship go on just so
Once she has been "abandoned" and must cruise
Without a hand to guide, or mind to know?
Why, mister, she was crowded, stem to stern,
With skillful men, the "masters of the fleet"...
The lads who make no errors, no false turns—
And ever in those highways "walk the beat"?

IV

You think there is no one at the controls
When such a ship home, like an eagle, flies?...
That she is kept from pitches, twists and rolls
By luck! Say, what's the matter with your eyes?
Those pilots and those navigators Look!...
Those flying men who meet the challenge grand....
The lost ones whose exploits would fill a book....
They see her through....And do it with one hand!

V

They are the boys who keep the bitter watch—
Who walk the clouds and keep the "Sky Patrol"—
Whose sombre eyes are ever quick to catch
A glimpse of any crippled, needy soul...
And she was such a soul, his battered ship,
With two men dead who to the end had stood....
And so the sky watch climbed aboard this trip
To help her die as any brave soul should.

VI

They thrilled to keep her in formation there—
To keep her on the course, as falcons go:
And when she banked so gracefully and fair
And dipped for that great channel far below,
The finest-flying hands of flying men
Controlled her as unto trail's end she roar'd....
And they'll be waiting for all others when
It seems to some there is NO ONE ABOARD!

Mrs. Raymond Gram Swing, the papers record, has sued the famous radio war commentator for a separation, alleging intolerable cruelty. Lacking details we cannot help wondering if perhaps a husband in Mr. Swing's position doesn't develop some bad habits. Like for instance, refusing to speak, even at home until he hears those hoofbeats in the night.

Maybe Wendell Willkie's defeat can be blamed in part on a lot of people who paid the original price for "One World" and then found they could get it in a dollar edition.

Vitamins

By Truman Twill

Back in the days before vitamins developed (B. V. D.) things weren't so hot. There are old timers still alive who can remember the awful state of affairs that prevailed.

Men used to get into a rundown condition and it was nothing at all to hear a woman say she was plumb tuckered out. Children turned up their noses at the farina, and it was so common to have a cold in the head that they called it the common cold.

You'd see people going to the doctor's every whipstitch to find out what ailed them, and it was an everyday occurrence to see some weary brother dragging his weary dogs home after a hard day at the mill or the office.

Mothers and fathers were subject to frazzled nerves. School teachers sometimes ran out of patience, and their little charges occasionally were listless and didn't give a whoop whether school kept or not.

Stories were heard about unhappy humans who had trouble going to sleep at night. The alarm clock had to be invented to get the laggards out of bed in the morning.

There were people who couldn't see in the dark, and some of them complained about spots in front of their eyes in the daylight. Appetites often grew dull.

All this happened in spite of the electric belts and bags of herbs prescribed for the ailing and afflicted. It happened in spite of sulphur and molasses and sassafras tea.

Tonics came and went and were consumed by the gallon, without any appreciable improvement. Rhythmic breathing, Professor Coue and calorie counting all had their day.

Tonsils were removed. Ventilation promised wonders. Prepared breakfast foods appeared in the market and were consumed by the ton because they were guaranteed to tone up the system.

They didn't have vitamins, yet somehow they survived and occasionally felt frisky in spite of their shortcomings. Only one conclusion is possible: The blind hogs must have found a vitamin once in a while. But the rugged, tough old timers who managed to stay alive and happy this long without them will never know what a narrow squeak they had.

LEHMAN'S SON KILLED

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 12 — Lt. Peter Lehman of the U. S. Army Air Forces, son of former Gov. Herbert Hehman of New York and present head of the United Nations Relief and Rehabilitation Administration, has been killed in an airplane crash overseas. The accident occurred last March 31, a spokesman for the family said in making the announcement.

More than half a million feet of lumber are needed at the shipyard to construct a Liberty ship.

TRY THEM TODAY!

* Spiced or nut muffins!

Kellogg's ALL-BRAN Muffins

2 tablespoons shortening
¼ cup sugar
1 egg
1 cup Kellogg's All-Bran
¾ cup milk
1 cup sifted flour
½ teaspoon salt
2½ teaspoons baking powder

Blend shortening and sugar thoroughly. Add egg and beat well. Stir in All-Bran and milk. Let soak until most of moisture is taken up. Sift flour with salt and baking powder; add to first mixture. Stir only until flour disappears. Fill greased muffin pans ⅔ full. Bake in hot oven (400° F.) about 30 minutes. Yield: 5 large muffins.
* For spiced muffins, add 1 tablespoon molasses to creamed mixture, and ½ teaspoon ginger or 1 teaspoon cinnamon to dry ingredients.
* For nut muffins, add ½ cup chopped nut meats to dry ingredients.

And remember, too, KELLOGG'S ALL-BRAN by itself is a rich, natural source of the whole grain "protective" food elements — protein, the B vitamins, phosphorus, calcium and iron!

Social Affairs

THE annual Founder's day dinner of Gamma Mu chapter of Delta Theta Tau sorority was held last night in the ballroom of Hotel Harding. Mrs. Glen Penry reviewed the history of the chapter from the time it was founded in 1928 to the present. Three of the original founders were present. They were: Mrs. Roscoe Rank (Zantha Haflich) of Columbus, Mrs. Howard Baker (Mildred Hollensnead) of Galion, and Mrs. Leonard Baker (Eleanor Williams).

A vote of welcome to members and founders present was given by Miss Louise Foreman, a past president. Mrs. William Keller, also a past president, read an original poem honoring all past presidents of the chapter. In charge of the program were Mrs. Penry, Mrs. Thelma Minard, Miss Virginia Wilson, Mrs. Earl McWherter, Miss Foreman, Mrs. Richard Parish and Miss Pauline Ruhl, all active members for over 10 years.

Serving on the social committee for the occasion were Miss Louise Guthery, chairman, Mrs. McWherter, Miss Alice Gertrude Smith, and Mrs. Harry Partridge.

Six new members were pledged by the chapter, for whom formal initiation will be held Sunday, June 4. The new pledges are Miss Lucille Crock, Mrs. Don Ruth, Mrs. LaMar Faught, Miss Virginia Oberlander, Mrs. Sherman Halderman and Mrs. John Knott.

Miss Mary Cook, president, and Miss Gladys Clark, vice president, were chosen to help at the formal opening of the new wing of City hospital, Sunday.

MRS. JOSEPH HAMILTON entertained the Women's Century club last night at her home on Kensington place. "New Zealand" was the subject of a paper presented by Miss Margery Eymon. The last meeting of the season will be April 25, when a picnic supper will be held at the home of Miss Amy Turner of South State street.

Plans for a picnic to close the club season and for taking part in the community fine arts day program on May 3 were made at a meeting of the Tuesday Study club last evening at the home of Mrs. J. T. McNamara of 544 Courtland avenue. Mrs. Gains L. Rush, delegate from the club, is attending the annual convention of the Ohio Federation of Women's Clubs in Columbus today. For the program hour Mrs. Glen R. Elsasser gave a paper, "Who Thought Up the Quiz Show?", and a quiz was conducted by Mrs. M. Goss and Miss Edna Dutton of the program committee. Mrs. Carl Werley, retiring president, and Mrs. W. R. Martin, who will head the club next year, presided at the table for refreshments served during a social hour.

London WACS' Faces Turn Red, Men Called To Tidy Kitchen

By RUTH COWAN

AP War Correspondent

WITH THE WACS IN BRITAIN—For the WACs it's a blow—where a blow hurts. It was found necessary to send in some KPs (male) to shine up the kitchen of the WAC mess in London. The girl soldier cooks got a bad mark on kitchen inspection.

A sergeant (male) told of it with a chuckle. The WACs see the humor of it, but feel they've been pitched a foul ball.

WACs are set up to be self-sufficient. They have their own cooks and bakers. The enlisted personnel take turns doing the dishes.

The WACs formerly had civilian helpers—as do many male outfits, even marines—to "police up." But the story is that a lieutenant general (male) had the civilian employes withdrawn.

Women, he believed, should do their own work. That was okay with the WACs except for the complications.

For one thing, there is a rule that no WAC above the grade of corporal can do KP. And the WACs in the London detachment are getting up in the non-commissioned world.

Also, some of the "brass" won't release WAC privates working in their offices when their time comes for KP. "They think the WAC privates working for them are too good to do the dishes," commented one girl soldier.

Also the mess sergeant, Constance Delahoyde of Bath, N. Y., has been ill in the hospital. Three cooks have been off sick.

One cook badly injured her hand. It seems men soldiers in supplies had been a little slow in handing out that essential kitchen item, the can-opener.

The girls have been having to use butcher knives and meat cleavers to open those big cans in which army chow comes.

And just now comes a report that another cook fell and injured her back.

The WAC privates are very very sorry it was found necessary to send a male clean-up detail into their kitchen, but after all it's the same old story:

Even in the Army, it seems, women's work is never done.

Weddings

Miss Bertha Rothfuss, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Rothfuss of west of Green Camp, and Paul Baker, son of Mrs. John Jones of near LaRue, were united in marriage Easter Sunday at 1:35 p. m. in the Methodist church at Newtown. Rev. Dale Limbert, former pastor of the Green Camp and Mt. Olive church, read the single ring ceremony.

The bride wore a tan and white print dress with tan accessories. Her corsage was of Talisman roses and her only jewelry was a heart-shaped gold necklace, a gift of the bridegroom. Her attendants were Miss Marie Rothfuss and Mrs. Dale Limbert.

Mrs. Baker is a graduate of Green Camp High school and for the past year has been employed at the Kroger Grocery on South Prospect street. Mr. Baker attended LaRue High school and is employed at the Scioto Ordnance plant. They will make their home at 491 South Prospect street.

HOLDUP VICTIM DIES

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 12—Jacob Reinstatler, 76, died last night of a beating he received Monday when two men robbed his jewelry store. Two bloodstained hammers were found in the store by police, who said a number of rings and watches were missing. The jeweler's assailants have not been found.

Miss Jeffers, Dale Parish Married at Green Camp

The marriage of Miss Lois Jeffers, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Jeffers of southwest of Marion, and Dale E. Parish, son of Mr. and Mrs. Pearl Parish of LaRue, took place Thursday afternoon in the Baptist church at Green Camp. The pastor, Rev. Charles W. Harmon read the ceremony.

Miss Jeffers chose a costume of gold crepe with which she wore brown accessories and a corsage of Talisman roses. Mrs. Ruth Aikin of Green Camp, who was her matron of honor and only attendant, wore a costume in a chartreuse shade with black accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Charles Blow of LaRue served as best man. Both are home on leave from service with the Seabees in the North Pacific battle area.

The bride was graduated from the Green Camp High school and attended Marion Business college. She is employed with the U. S. Rubber Co. The bridegroom, a graduate of the LaRue High school, has been in foreign service for the last 16 months. At the expiration of his leave he will report at Camp Parks, Calif. for advanced training.

An award of merit for participation in recent Red Cross and War chest campaigns was presented last night to members of Marion Central Labor union by the International Labor League for Human Rights, United Nations relief, A. PARTISANS CAPTURE BASE AT GRADINA

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 12—Yugoslav Partisans have stormed and occupied the important German base of Gradina in central Yugoslavia, inflicting heavy casualties on the routed garrison, including a "fairly great number" who drowned in the Una river while fleeing the city, Marshal Josip (Tito) Broz announced today.

Broz' communique, broadcast by the free Yugoslav radio, said the German command was rushing fresh troops into eastern Bosnia and Serbia to counteract widespread thrusts by guerrilla flying columns against enemy communications there as well as along the Dalmatian and Croatian coastal sectors.

Warfare between Tito's 5th division and Chetnik troops of Gen. Draja Mihailovic was reported raging throughout central Bosnia, with the partisans uniformly successful.

Partisan troops joining up with Macedonian patriots have embarked on a widespread drive against axis garrisons in Macedonia and have inflicted heavy losses on enemy forces, the bulletin said.

Slovenia, far to the northwest, also was the scene of violent fighting, according to Tito's communique, with the Germans again on the losing end here.

New Navy Bill Faces Returning Congressmen

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 12—Congress returned to its wartime duties after an Easter recess today, to be greeted with a $30,000,000,000 naval appropriations bill—the largest in history—a split within Republican senate ranks over a threatened poll tax filibuster, and legislation to extend the office of price control for another year.

First order of business is the navy bill which is exceeded in size only by the $59,000,000,000 appropriation voted for the Army last year.

Chicago Tribune Plans Paper in Milwaukee

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 12—The Chicago Tribune in a news story today noted "the repudiation of indorsement of Wendell Willkie by Wisconsin newspapers," and said it had applied to the war production board (WPB) for newsprint necessary to start a new morning newspaper in Milwaukee.

"Willkie, who failed to win a delegate to support him, although he was the only candidate to campaign the state, was backed by the Milwaukee Journal, the Wisconsin State Journal in Madison, and the Sheboygan Press," the Tribune said.

The Tribune, one of the two Chicago morning newspapers, also said that in the recent Wisconsin primary campaign Willkie "campaigned against a newspaper, the Tribune. The issue in Wisconsin was Tribune policies against Willkie policies. The people of Wisconsin voted for Americanism and against foreignism."

kie, on the ballot despite his withdrawal, trailed with 4,961.

President Roosevelt, unopposed in the Democratic preferential, got 26,480 votes in the same number of precincts.

Dewey's write-in support, probably unprecedented in any Nebraska election, was regarded by his supporters as a spontaneous demonstration that followed Willkie's withdrawal. There was no organized write-in campaign.

Ira Beynon of Lincoln, Neb., Republican national committeeman, declared "it looks now as if Dewey might be selected on the first ballot" at the national convention.

Stassen backers saw in the victory for their candidate an indication of strong midwest support for the former Minnesota governor, who ran second to Dewey in the Wisconsin primary last week.

John Quinn, state manager of the Stassen campaign, said the vote indicates Stassen is "the new leader for whom the people * * * have been searching."

Governor Dwight Griswold, seeking a third consecutive term, was successful in gaining the Republican nomination, winning by a five to one margin over William R. Brooks, Omaha shit firm executive.

The race for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination was undecided, with 939 precincts giving George W. Olsen, Plattsmouth war plant worker, 9,261 votes and P. J. Heaton, Sidney attorney and member of the state central committee, 8,637.

TRUMAN MENTIONED FOR WALLACE'S POST

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 12—The stock of Senator Harry Truman, Democrat of Missouri, as a possible Democratic vice presidential nominee boomed today as politicians speculated whether Vice President Wallace was taking himself out of the race under orders.

The vice president, in a cryptic 30-word statement handed reporters by aids, announced he "hopes to visit Chungking sometime in late spring or summer."

While Wallace said no definite plans had been made and no details were available, Miss Mary Huss, his personal secretary, told a reporter the vice president would go in an "official" capacity and "would represent President Roosevelt."

At loss to understand the necessity of such a trip at this time, some members of the senate speculated immediately that Wallace was being asked to absent himself so that another might be picked for second place on the Democratic ticket at the party convention in Chicago July 19.

This would be about the time Wallace said the visit to China is planned and politicians pointed out that if President Roosevelt seeks a fourth term and desires another running mate it would be less embarrassing all around to make the change while Wallace was 9,000 miles away.

This brought into bold relief the prospective candidacy of Truman, chairman of the senate's war investigating committee. Truman has insisted to reporters that he is not a candidate for vice president but he has recently been making a series of speeches urging that the President be drafted for another term.

Truman, 59-year-old world war artillery officer who was elected to the senate in 1934 recently conferred with President Roosevelt. There were subsequent reports that he had received some encouragement to seek the vice presidential nomination.

Pension Board Loses in Supreme Court Case

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 12—The division of aid for the aged cannot levy against a wife's property for pension paid her husband, the Ohio supreme court held in affirming Jackson county court decisions.

Archibald A. Arnold of Wellston received $1,659 in old age benefits from 1935 to 1941. His wife Allie, who was not eligible for aid, owned their residence and after her death the division sought to levy against the property to recover payments to her husband.

The court held that where a husband is recipient of an old age pension but the wife is not, the amount paid the husband can not be recovered from the wife's estate in the absence of any agreement on her part to be bound. No such agreement existed.

Decomposed Meat Rate High, Official Says

By The Associated Press

ST. LOUIS, April 11—Quantities of decomposed meat unfit for human consumption have been seized by municipal and state food inspectors during the present war in amounts "far in excess of normal and to a much greater extent than during the first World war," Herman C. Lythgoe, president of the Association of Food and Drug officials of th eUnited States, declared today.

In an address prepared for the forty-eighth conference of the association, Lythgoe, food and drug director of the Massachusetts department of public health, said "consumers are not receiving a sufficient number of points to buy all the meat being allocated to meat dealers. This may, to some extent, be responsible for the decomposed meat found by inspectors in public meat markets."

He said the decomposed meat had been found in sausage factories, cold storage warehouses, meat markets, wholesale refrigerator plants and in kitchen restaurants.

Philadelphia Refinery Shaken by Explosion

By The Associated Press

PHILADELPHIA, April 12—An explosion shook the vast oil plant of the Atlantic Refining company today, injuring at least six persons and causing a five-alarm fire which the company said swept two gasoline tanks.

Two hours after the blast the fire was reported under control.

More than 65 pieces of fire apparatus had been dispatched, and a fire boat was sent to fight the flames from the Schuylkill river in South Philadelphia.

Neutrals Listen To Hull Warning Against Axis Aid

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
Associated Press War Analyst

Today's Horse-Laugh — The unprecedented shellacking which American and British warplanes are giving western Europe in preparation for the invasion is interesting commentary on the following Nazi propaganda, issued by radio Zeesen a year ago:

"German air defense is so strong that the enemy can not approach military targets."

Secretary of State Hull's blunt warning to neutral nations last Sunday to stop lending aid and comfort to our enemies, delivered in the course of his exposition of America's foreign policy, hasn't fallen on deaf ears abroad, though it remains to be seen how receptive they are.

Quick reaction comes from a pro-Nazi source in one of the most important neutrals—strategically situated Turkey—whom the Allies have been trying ineffectually to persuade to join them in the war so as to speed victory. The newspaper Cumhuriyet, a Hitlerite sympathizer, declares there's no reason why Turkey shouldn't continue to ship chrome to Germany.

A Direct Reply

Now that's a direct reply to Mr. Hull, for one of the sins of the neutrals he mentioned Sunday was "sending to Germany the essential ingredients of the steel which kills our soldiers." Chrome is an essential of steel, and Hitler is mighty short of chrome.

Of course, Cumhuriyet doesn't necessarily speak for the government. However, the Turks maintain a rigid censorship and would scarcely permit publication of such an editorial unless they were willing to fly a balloon to test the Allies. In this connection it's interesting to note Berlin's announcement that Franz Von Papen, German ambassador to Turkey, has arrived at Istanbul and will stage "a very great reception" in the next few days. Von Papen is one of the world's most dangerous schemers.

We shouldn't jump to the conclusion from the above that Turkey is swinging into the German camp. What it may mean—not only as regards Turkey but some other neutrals—is that they fail to recognize that the world is entering a new epoch in which neutrals no longer will have a place. Our globe has so shrunk under the white heat of military science that the time has passed when any nation can refuse to take a positive stand, either for or against.

No Need To Buy Protection

Or, if that's debatable ground, we can stick to Mr. Hull's language in dealing with the position of neutrals; namely, that "it is no longer necessary for them to purchase protection against aggression by furnishing aid to our enemy; * * *." In other words, the Allies now are able to protect the neutrals and to win a victory which will insure freedom for all.

The big punch in the secretary's homily on neutrals was in this quietly deposited time-bomb:—"We ask them only, but with insistence, to cease aiding our enemy." And there's small doubt that the Allies intend to insist on real neutrality rather than the pseudo variety.

In this connection it's learned in London that stringent moves are expected to isolate Eire further from the outside world as a possible "peeking post" for axis agents at the time of the European invasion. It's reported that restrictions on travel and communications between England and Ireland will be tightened. There may be other restrictions unless Eire severs diplomatic relations with the axis.

U. S. PAYS FIRST MILLION DAMAGES TO SWITZERLAND

Government Indemnified for American Bombing Error.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, April 12—A check for $1,000,000, "first installment" in compensation for damages due in the accidental bombing of Schaffhausen by American planes on April 1, was in the hands of the Swiss government today.

The million-dollar check was handed to Swiss officials yesterday by American Minister Leland Harrison, the Swiss radio said.

(Schaffhausen, Swiss town across the German frontier from Friedrichshafen, a frequent allied target, was accidentally bombed during an attack on southern Germany. The Swiss government announced that casualties were 35 killed, 52 injured and from 200 to 300 rendered homeless. On April 7, Secretary of State Cordell Hull told the Swiss minister to Washington the United States would indemnify the Swiss government and Swiss citizens "for the damage resulting from this unfortunate event, in so far as that is humanly possible.")

INDIAN GIRL

The night before her disappearance she had a tea date with a young U. S. Army lieutenant, he said, but their correspondence made it plain it was not a love affair.

Cronin said he did not eliminate the chance she had gone for an early walk and been assaulted, or that she was the victim of an automobile accident.

"But I lean towards suicide," he added. "She didn't make a confidante of anyone; she didn't even make plans to see her friends the next day. I think more of the signs—taking no money, just walking out—point toward that."

U. S. ACES MISSING. Maj. Walker M. Mahurin, 25, (right) whose record of downing 21 Nazi planes in the European war theater made him one of the U. S. LETTERS FROM OUR READERS

AN OBJECTION

Editor of The Star: The other day I read in our paper—The Star—where a Flying Fortress consumes as much gasoline in an hour as a civilian automobile can normally use in a year. The plea was for we civilians to quit driving.

For some weeks now a Fortress of the large type has paid Marion a daily visit, gaily circling the Shovel plant, doing steep banks, etc., (with the wheels down—indicating under-regulation flying). Daily a civilian gives a year's supply of gasoline so that some "torch-lit" young pilot can show his fair lady his progress—or, perhaps, his dad his air-mastery.

Now, sir, is this sort of thing smart advertising? Does it inspire any of us to "dig deeper"—or "Buy More Bonds?" I really don't think so—and I object.

BUCYRUS MAN STARTS LIFE TERM IN PEN

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, April 12 — John "Jack" Wilson, 63, former timber cutter, sentenced to life imprisonment in the Ohio penitentiary last Friday for the slaying of his common-law wife during a quarrel over her attentions to another man, started upon his sentence Tuesday. He was taken to the Columbus prison by Deputy Sheriff Elwood Jacobs and Bucyrus patrolman Bruce Foght.

Officers reported that the prisoner made no reference to incidents leading to his arrest nearly three weeks ago but appeared to be in good spirits.

Wilson was sentenced by Common Pleas Judge C. U. Ahl on a second degree murder charge, after the first degree indictment returned by the grand jury was reduced, upon recommendation of Prosecutor Leo J. Scanlon. He confessed the murder after being arrested in Fostoria a week after he walked away from his Water street home when a son of the murdered woman found her frozen body in an unused room of the home where it had been left for 12 days while Wilson continued to live in the house.

Ohio To Be Considered for Fuel Laboratory

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 12 — Rep. Walter E. Brehm (R) of Logan, O., today was assured early consideration would be given Ohio's bid for one of a network of experimental laboratories to produce synthetic oil, gasoline and other products from coal.

President Roosevelt yesterday approved proposed legislation for the expenditure of $30,000,000 for construction of such laboratories.

Brehm some time ago asked the President to consider southeastern Ohio as a possible site for one of the laboratories.

Brehm's suggestion was in a letter to the President, who said it would be turned over to Interior Secretary Harold L. Ickes. Under the bill Ickes would select sites for the research projects.

Interior department officials said Ohio sites would be among the first considered after the bill became law.

Rules Official Can Draw Pay While in Service

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 12 — Prosecuting attorneys may enter the armed service and still retain their elective offices, the state supreme court ruled today in ordering the county officials of Adams county to pay the salary of Prosecutor Alfred Rodman Clinger.

Clinger, elected to the four-year term as prosecutor starting Jan. 1, 1941, enlisted in the Army Dec. 1, 1941. His assistant carried on the work during his absence.

County commissioners, contending that by reason of Clinger's absence in the armed service he had vacated the office, refused to appropriate money for his salary.

In issuing an order to pay Clinger's salary during his absence, the court held such absence in the armed service did not constitute abandonment of the office.

GALION, April 12—City council at an adjourned meeting Tuesday granted an eight-months old request for a general increase of 10 cents per hour in rates for employes of the electric light plant. About 26 employes received the raise. Action by council also raised the salary of the superintendent of the plant, Joe Blest from $247.50 to $270 per month, and the meter reader had his salary hiked from $148.50 to $164.00.

Council also went on record changing the name of the city reservoir on the former Hurley farm, south west of Galion, to the Amann reservoir, thus giving Mayor William Amann a memorial for his efforts in promoting the project.

Galion City hospital submitted a report for the month of March This showed receipts of $6,218.94 expenses $5,056.96; leaving a balance cleared of $1,161.98. King Has No Idea of Abdicating.

By The Associated Press

NAPLES, April 12—When Umberto, 39-year-old prince of Piedmont, receives royal powers from his father, King Vittorio Emanuele, under the plan announced by the king today, he will in effect be his father's regent.

It is said the king has no idea of abdicating.

There is a parallel in this case to that of King George III of England. When that monarch was too ill to function in his older years, his eldest son, George, became prince regent in 1811 and exercised the kingly functions until he became king on the death of his father in 1820.

and 16 escorting fighters failed to return from yesterday's blows at plane factories in Oschersleben and Bernburd and at industrial targets in Rostock and Arnimswalde, near Stettin, a U. S. communique said, but the wild battles cost the Germans 126 planes and at least 58 more were wrecked on the ground by American fighters strafing airdromes on their way home. Still another Nazi plane was downed by the Swedes after it had opened fire on Swedish anti-aircraft, a Swedish communique said.

Although the loss in bombers was the second heaviest ever suffered by the Eighth air force, Nine of the flying Giants were forced down in Sweden and a Swedish communique said the crews of all were safe, with the exception of one airman who was dead when his plane landed. Three more heavy bombers were reported to have landed in Denmark.

TAKE YOUR BATTLE STATIONS— VICTORY GARDENERS!

WE MUST

GROW MORE in '44

TODAY there are 10 million men and women in the armed forces.

Each eats about 5¼ pounds of food a day —50 per cent more than he or she ate as a civilian.

Each member of the armed forces in this country must have a 90-day reserve of food.

And right now, 40 per cent of the 1944 commercial pack of fresh vegetables has been allotted to these men and women.

See why it's up to your Victory Garden?

These are the facts, and they are staring us straight in the face. The farmer will do his full share—and more—but he can't do the whole job alone. That's why the War Food Administration asks for a 25 per cent increase in Victory Garden tonnage.

That's why it's imperative to have more Victory Gardens, bigger and better Victory Gardens.

We must beat last year's record

Make no mistake, the need for your help is urgent.

This is not a job for the neighbors. This is your responsibility.

If you did not have a Victory Garden last year, have one now.

If you had a small one, see if you can't manage a larger one.

If you had a good one, have a better one.

It will be easier this year

The War Food Administration and other government agencies have improved the supplies for gardeners. More garden tools are available this year. The supply of most seeds is adequate. Fertilizer is better. More insecticide is on the market.

More than that, you can get good advice from your local Victory Garden Committee. Your state agricultural college is again ready to help. Your neighbors have records of successes and failures. And you can profit from your own mistakes. You can do it better in '44.

Let's go!

Let's keep those rations flowing steadily to our fighting men. Let's keep our families supplied with the vitamins and minerals they must have. Let's take part of the load off the farmer. Let's build a heartening stock-pile of canned food in our pantries and cellars. And let's have a little fun at it —a little good humor, a little sweat and spirit. A few tired muscles this year are the standout marks of a good citizen.

★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★ ★

THERE'S ANOTHER CALL FOR HELP—In the face of the greatest food needs in our history, farm population is at a 20-year low. If you have a few hours, weeks or months to work on a farm—this is the year to do it. Anyone with the entire summer free should volunteer NOW. Men and women can get full particulars from their county agent. Boys and girls should see their high school principal or county agent. Those with only a few days or a few weeks free should listen for the local call for emergency volunteers.

Three-Way Race May Develop for 1944 Stolen Base Honors

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 12—George Case's five-year reign as the major league's leading base stealer may come to an end this year.

The Washington Senator outfielder had to go at top speed last season to nose out Wally Moses of the Chicago White Sox, with 61 stolen sacks to Moses' 56. George Stirnweiss, of the Yankees, may make it a three-way race.

Stirnweiss swiped only 11 for the world champions last season, but he watched most of the games from the bench. A regular this season he may approach his 1942 record of 73 stolen bases.

Case, who in the last five years has pelfered 51, 35, 33, 44 and 61 bases, already has stolen four in spring exhibition games. Moses is waiting for the opening of the season next Tuesday before trying out his 1944 wings.

Other major league news:

Cincinnati Reds—"Let them pick the Cards and Cubs," explained Manager Bill McKechnie as the Reds reached Crosley field. "Somebody's going to be surprised."

Philadelphia Phillies—Righthander Dick Barrett or Southpaw Al Gerheauser will start opening game against Brooklyn at Shibe park Tuesday.

Detroit Tigers—Joe Orrell, who worked 20 innings for Tigers last year after purchase from Portland, is expected to make first 1944 starts in exhibition against Louisville today.

Cleveland Indians—Mickey Rocco has recovered from foot injury. Outfield Recruit Cliff Mapes due for pre-induction exam tomorrow.

Brooklyn Dodgers—Rookie catcher Mike Ulisney was optioned to New Orleans while infielder Frank Drews was returned to St. Paul.

New York Giants—Pitcher Harry Feldman left for Fort Smith, Ark., where his wife suffered a heart attack. He said he did not expect to rejoin club.

Chicago Cubs—Paul Derringer and Bill Fleming are down with flu.

Chicago White Sox—Johnny Humphries and Orval Grove named to hurl against Cubs on Friday.

St. Louis Cardinals—Outfielder Johnny Hopp's homer wasted as Cards lost to Browns.

Boston Braves—Outfielder Chet Ross announced at Buffalo he would rejoin club after being laid off by war plant where he was working. He expects to play a couple of months "before the Army calls me."

Indians Believe Reynolds Can Be Best in League

By The Associated Press

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., April 12—His Cleveland Indian teammates are convinced Allie Reynolds is destined to become the outstanding pitcher of the major leagues—and they think it could be this year if the Army doesn't beckon.

He proved his ability last year by topping American league elbowers in strikeouts despite the fact he didn't begin to pitch regularly until the season was half over.

There was some concern in the Tribal camp a few weeks ago when a report drifted in from Oklahoma that the 26-year-old right hander was disgracefully overweight, but today he weighs only five younds more than he did when the 1943 season ended.

All doubt about Reynolds' condition was dispelled yesterday when he made his initial mound appearance in an exhibition game against the Pittsburgh Pirates. The Indians lost 3 to 1 but the hurling was not to blame. The stocky fireballer worked five innings, allowed four hits, striking out four and issuing two passes. The Bucs secured a lone hit off Paul Calvert, who twirled the other three stanzas. Fielding lapses lost the game for the Indians.

The Bucs and the Redskins end their series here today. Joe Heving, Mike Naymick and Steve Gromek drew the mound assignments. Tomorrow the Indians meet the Cincinnati Reds at Richmond, Ind.

Reds Work Out First Time at Crosley Field

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, April 12—Every member of the Cincinnati Reds' pitching staff will work 15 minutes on the mound today throwing at hitters in the first workout of the season on the club's home grounds.

The Reds pulled stakes yesterday at Bloomington, Ind., where they have been for four weeks on the campus of Indiana university.

The Reds have four exhibitions with the Cleveland Indians coming up, Thursday at Richmond, Ind., Friday at Dayton, O., and Saturday and Sunday here.

No Competition Lack in Golf Tournament

By The Associated Press

PINEHURST, N. C., April 12—Whatever it may lack in glamor, the 33th North and South amateur golf championship may go down in the records as comparable to any of its predecessors in spectacular rivalry.

The high spot of the opening round that included several close matches was one that still was unsettled at the 26th hole when darkness and rains came. Pfc. Alec Thomas of Pittsburgh and Camp Mackall and Jim Fownes of the Fox Chappel club of Pittsburgh halved their match at the 18th yesterday and were unable to break the tie in eight more holes. They were billed for the playoff today.

In early England, forgers were punished by having their ears cut off.

Big Boys Put Zip in Final Chapter of Golden Gloves

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, April 12—It took some time to unlimber the big guns, but when the boys from the midwest opened up with the heavy artillery the national A. A. U. boxing championships ended with a barrage of knockouts.

Until the championship round the exchanges had been on the sedate side, but the affair for the most part was confined to a monotonous repetition of waltzing or cases of mismatching.

It remained for the Cleveland boys to put the coup de grace to the affair and Ray Standifer, the light-heavy, and Sgt. Eddie Sims, USA, heavyweight obliged with convincing first round icings to send the 7,000 odd fans home happy.

The new champions include five under 18 years of age, one 19-year-old 4-F, a war worker and a service man.

FINALS

112 pounds: Cecil Schoonmaker, New York, knocked out Jack Darthard, Kansas City, first round.

118 pounds: Nick Saunders, St. Louis, defeated Pvt. Frank Turstill, USA, Columbus, O.

135 pounds: Joey D'Amato, Warren, O., defeated Frank Muche, Cleveland.

147 pounds: Joe Gannon, Washington, D. C., defeated Edward McDaniels, Cincinnati, O.

175 pounds: Ray Standifer, Cleveland, knocked out Corp. Ernest Westbrook, USA, Dayton, O., first.

Heavyweight: Sgt. Eddie Sims, Cleveland, O., knocked out Rayno Workman, Alexandria, Va., first.

In some occupied countries of Europe the average death age has fallen by more than 10 years due to malnutrition, federal reports indicate.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, April 12—A half dozen Maryland outfits have organized the Third Service Command baseball league to operate this summer and six more around Chicago, including two Great Lakes "small" teams have banded together in the Midwest Service league.... Wonder why the other G. I. clubs that are going to play a lot of games against one another, anyway, don't adopt the same plan?....At least it would lead to fewer (and probably louder) arguments about what outfit has the best club....For instance, Virginia and the Carolinas alone probably will have two dozen strong teams this spring, with former pros and college stars manning most of them, but so far there's no sign of a pennant race.

Omen While Roamin'

After Utah's "national champion" basketball team had been beaten by Kentucky in the first round of the Garden invitation court tournament, Vadal Peterson, Ute coach, and Graduate Manager Keith Brown were walking down a snow-filled New York street....Brown kicked some object lying in the snow, stooped to see what it was and come up with a pocket size Bible...."Look, Vadal," he exclaimed, "here's our good luck. It's always good luck to find a Bible."....To make the story short, when they returned to their hotel there was a phone call inviting them to fill in for Arkansas in the Western N. C. A. A. tournament, and from there the Utes went on to win all the honors in sight.

Cleaning the Cuff

Biggest surprise of the spring training season: Bobo Newsom reported to the A's training camp the day he had promised to be there....Bobby Gleason, manager of featherweight Phil Terranova, has bought the contract of Gilbert Stromquist, six-foot, 8-inch heavyweight from Austin, Tex.... Jim Lookabaugh, Oklahoma Aggies coach, figures there will be only about 60 high-school football products in Oklahoma this year that will qualify as "eligible civilians." Last fall the Aggies got all but four of the eligible kids.... "Jitterbug Joe" Stella, rookie pitcher who is getting a tryout with the Braves on the recor mendation of another hope from Jessup, Pa., Ben Cardo pitched two-hit ball in his deb as a high school pitcher and fa ned 13 batsmen in succession.

Lieut. Col. Windom Is Youngest Staff Officer of 37th

(This is one of a series of sketches of the general staff of Ohio's 37th division. Distributed by The Associated Press.)

* * *

WITH THE 37TH DIVISION OF BOUGAINVILLE — Lt. Col. Loren G. Windom, 38-year-old former assistant United States attorney in the southern district of Ohio, is the youngest member of the 37th's general staff. He is the only one who did not see service in World War I. Colonel Windom, who lives in Reynoldsburg near Columbus, O., was wounded in the early days of the New Georgia campaign. He was placed on special duty with the 43rd division as G-3 of that unit June 29 of last year, nearly a month before the 37th division went into the action. Shortly afterward, five fragments from a Japanese aerial bomb hit him, two in the chest and left thigh and one in his left foot. For several days Colonel Windom lay on a stretcher on Rendova island and then was flown south to a general hospital by plane. He rejoined the division Sept. 2 of that year in just enough time to prepare for the invasion of Bougainville. He was awarded the purple heart with oak leaf cluster.

Colonel Windom attended East High school in Columbus and in 1929 was graduated by Ohio State university with a law degree. Since that time he has practiced in Columbus in addition to filling a post as U. S. attorney.

Montgomery Ward Plant Patrolled by Pickets

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 12—Pickets patrolled the vast Montgomery Ward and Co. central mail order house and retail store today under surveillance of 67 policemen in a strike called by the United Mail Order Warehouse and Retail Employes Union (CIO).

Henry B. Anderson, president of the union local, said "we are striking because Montgomery Ward has defied two war labor board orders extending our union contract * * * and because the war labor board has failed to compel Montgomery Ward to obey those orders."

Union leaders predicted 5,000 union members would stay away from work.

Company officials declined comment but said a statement probably would be made later. The company had questioned whether the union represented a majority of the employes.

FARM MACHINERY PRODUCTION TRAILS

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, April 11—With farm machinery manufacture trailing 22.7 per cent behind schedule, the war production board (WPB) is boosting the quotas of those plants that can stand more pressure.

While asserting it is impossible to catch up with the 1944 crop season goals, WPB officials said they hoped to make up a good part of the production deficit before the harvest starts.

It was learned simultaneously that the foreign rehabilitation program of farm equipment production has been cut deeply and resubmitted to WPB as a six-month program sponsored by the Army, since the Army would have charge of rehabilitation in liberated territories for the first six months after allied occupation.

More than half the farm equipment in the new Army-sponsored program will be built in Canada or the United Kingdom, WPB sources said. The foreign economic administration is seeking its completion by the end of this year.

"You are carrying out the sacred order of God in honoring these men, who for 25 years have been promoting brotherly love in a world of hate and war," he said. He urged he practice of fraternal charities and in closing congratulated the honored members and also the other member of the council in paying tribute to the jubilarians.

State Draft Board Source of Deferments

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., April 12 — Ohio employers must contact state selective service headquarters in seeking deferments for essentially employed 18-to-25-year-olds, Lt. Col. Carl G. Wahl, manpower officer, said today.

Local boards no longer have authority to grant occupational deferments to any registrant under 26, Wahl said. The recent ruling which ordered immediate induction of all physically fit younger men unless engaged in essential work, eliminated the local boards' jurisdiction, he explained.

Wahl expresed belief that only a very few Ohioans in the low-age bracket would meet requirements of the essentially employed classification.

Cleveland Specialists Fined on Tax Evasion

CLEVELAND, April 12—Dr. Caroll H. Verovitz, 53, specialist in circulatory diseases, was fined $12,000 yesterday by Federal Judge Emerich B. Freed after pleading guilty to six counts of income tax evasion.

James Sline, partner in the Buckeye Amusement Co., Alliance, O., was fined $5,000 after he pleaded guilty to defrauding the government of approximately $2,500 in income taxes.

Judge Freed sentenced Bernard Glick, 36, formerly a cashier at the Killbuck (O.) State Bank, to four years imprisonment. Glick pleaded guilty to embezzlement of $8,250 and admitted faking a story about a holdup last summer.

Ohio Farmlands, Highways Flood

By The Associated Press

High waters spread over Ohio farmlands and highways today as the prediction of more rain brought the threat of spring floods to low-lying communities.

Throughout the state streams were reported overflowing. The Scioto river was expected to continue rising throughout the day. Flood stage was predicted for Circleville, while one or two feet above flood level was anticipated at LaRue and Prospect in Marion county.

At Reno beach, east of Toledo, a "northeaster" sent 14 inches of Lake Erie water surging over the area. Hundreds of residents prepared to flee to higher ground.

In Columbus Meteorologist George W. Mindling reported general rainfall in sight for the entire state this week-end. Occasional showers were predicted for today, with fair skies and slowly rising temperatures tomorrow.

Farmers who have been unable to do their spring plowing found little comfort in the forecast.

H. C. Ramsower, director of agriculture extension service at Ohio State university, said that while rain had caused considerable delay in plowing and seeding of oats, the past three or four weeks had been fine for winter wheat and grass crops.

He said the winter wheat crop, which during last winter's drought looked like it might fail entirely, now was predicted at 38,338,000 bushels, compared with 26,433,000 harvested last year. In most sections of the state above-normal rainfall this month and last offset precipitation deficiencies recorded during the drought.

Ramsower said some potatoes, oats and tobacco had been planted in the state, but that seeding of the major portions of land was awaiting more favorable weather. He said rains had also kept farmers from preparing their fields for corn planting.

Spring Music Program Given at Kirkpatrick

KIRKPATRICK — The gymnasium was filled Thursday when the Kirkpatrick school presented a spring music festival. The program was presented as a radio broadcast from "station KIRK." The opening number was a musical quiz program by the grades 1 to 6 with Eddie Lemke as master ceremonies and Mrs. Ira Beers, Mrs. Ray Dobbins and Carl Beers as contestants. "Alabama's Minstrel Boys" was presented by the high school boys with Warren Beers as interlocutor. The local merchant hour was given by the seventh and eighth grade boys. Hour of Charm consisting of poetry and songs was presented by the high school girls and seventh and eighth grade girls. The benediction was pronounced by Miss Marjorie Grimes. Mrs. Carl Bailey, music supervisor, was director assisted by Mrs. Jessie Daugherty and Mrs. Josephine Walter.

Argentina's two oldest cities, San Juan and Mendoza, were founded in 1561-62 by colonists from Chile.

PRICES RECORD FEW CHANGES

Shifts Are Limited Despite Confused Stock Trading Situation.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, April 12—Trends were confused in today's stock market but most of the list price changes were limited to narrow fractions.

Rails were moderately active. Total volume was comparatively low.

The low ebb of interest in the market was charged up to an apparently increasing speculative caution based on invasion thinking. At the same time, there was little evidence that this momentous coming event was prompting any considerable selling.

Great Northern moved up to a new year's high and modest improvement was registered by Southern Pacific, N. Y. Central, Pennsylvania, Northern Pacific, Woolworth, Montgomery Ward and U. S. Rubber. Sinclair also edged up a little on a good turnover. A few utilities and coppers ruled lower.

Rail loans advanced broadly in the bond market. Commodities showed negligible price changes.

GRAIN PRICES MOVE SLIGHTLY LOWER

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, April 12—Prices in the grain pits worked slightly lower today, influenced by prospects of expanded corn shipments with improving weather, good development of the winter wheat crop, rumors that efforts will be made to bring Canadian rye into the country and news dispatches asserting government officials were discussing the possibility of importing corn from the Argentine.

Despite the generally bearish implications of most news items, the market showed no tendency to break. Cash demand for all grains, except rye, continued strong. The cash market has been the underlying influence in giving strength to futures for the past several weeks and traders were not inclined to sell aggressively until some easing of the tight feed grain situation was noted.

nowledged the enemy had occupied a small hill northeast of the Imphal plain.

An important enemy road block, however, was cleared out on the Tamu-Palel road southeast of Imphal yesterday, the bulletin said, and no more road blocks are behind allied troops operating on that road.

Japs Pounded In Pacific

In the southwest Pacific naval and aerial pounding of Japanese installations on the north coast of New Guinea was reported by Gen. Douglas MacArthur as official figures showed the enemy lost at least six men for each American in the fight for the western half of neighboring New Britain.

U. S. destroyers with a fighter escort steamed boldly into Hansa bay Monday and hurled shells into the enemy's shore installations while heavy bombers poured 227 tons of explosives on the base, which was left under a pall of smoke.

The attacking force then turned south to give Madang and its adjacent Alexishafen airbase the same treatment.

No air or sea opposition was encountered, but one bomber was lost to anti-aircraft fire.

A MacArthur spokesman said the Japanese had been cleared from western New Britain at a cost of 1,514 American casualties: 442 dead, 1,062 wounded, 10 missing.

Nearly 5,000 Killed

These figures contrasted with General MacArthur's estimate that the Japanese have lost 4,011 dead and prisoners plus at least that many more from wounds, starvation and disease. The enemy force of 40,000 or so is in full retreat across rugged terrain toward the badly-battered Japanese base of Rabaul, 200 miles away at the northeastern tip of the island.

The American casualties covered such operations as the Dec. 15 landing at Arawe, the Dec. 26 invasion at Cape Gloucester and the March 20 landing near Talasea.

At Bougainville, where American troops have expanded their Empress Augusta bay bridgehead two miles on the Torokina side, the total count of enemy dead for one month ending April 8, was announced as 5,370. Most of these Japanese died in a series of suicidal frontal assaults during March.

LOVE'S FAIR HORIZON

By ADELE GARRISON

I PUT MY hand in Hugh's—I could not have avoided the gesture even if I had wished to do so—and his firm grip brought me to my feet from the depths of the easy chair from which I had been telling him the story of the farmhouse secret passage.

"I shall be very glad to show you the hide-away," I said. "I only trust you won't have to use it."

"Is it so uncomfortable then?" he asked, with anxiety in his voice. "I am not thinking of myself. I am used to hardship, and I am in excellent physical condition. But—Lee Chow."

Hidden Door

"Wait till you see it, before you judge," I said, and then conducted him out of the suite, into the upper hall. Then I opened the door, and went with Hugh into the roomy attic, locking the door behind us.

Straight across the room I walked, and put my fingers on the hidden spring. The door, to all appearances a segment of the chimney stones, swung out. Then, leaving it open, I turned a switch in the stones, and a line of lights illuminated the narrow stairway, down which only one person could pass.

"Single file here," I said. Better let me go first."

"I agree with you," he said. "And I shall mark very carefully where you go. But, is it wise to talk above a whisper in here?"

Passage

"You may shout if you wish," I said, "unless there were enemies in the attic. A shout might be heard through the chimney, but not ordinary tones. And the rest of this is so covered with earth that nothing can be heard from any point of it. You may be sure the boys have tested it many times, and I usually was drafted for listener."

"You would be," he said with a note of irritation, tinged with admiration, which I had heard before in his voice. "But your father certainly has done a good job on this stairway. It has firm treads, good electric lights. He knows where to get his workmen, and how to keep their mouths closed."

"You haven't seen anything yet," I quoted. "We've come now to the level of the lowest cellar floor of the house. From this point Father had the men excavate, and every hod full of dirt was used to fill up the outside passage before the steel wall was built."

There was a door in the wall beside me, and I took a key from the chain hanging on my belt and unlocked it. When I threw it open, I ushered Hugh into a fairly large square room with comfortable bunks along the walls, chairs, a table, a small electric few books, electric lamps, one of refrigerator, a book shelf with a which I had switched on, sending instant heat into the chill of the room.

"There is a tiny but well appointed bathroom through that door," I said, pointing to a door at the end of the room, "and these doors along this wall hold bedding and linen, simple household supplies and canned and staple foods. And, of course, the refrigerator can be turned on at a moment's notice, and perishable supplies brought down to you."

Impressed

I finished with a note of pride in my voice, for my father's plans for this retreat had been very thorough. Hugh Grantland stood looking from one side to another of the room with an almost dazed look upon his face.

"I know how ingenious the Chief is," he said, "but this—is beyond anything I ever have seen. Why anybody could stay weeks in here. Talk about the secret hiding places in the old castles abroad. This beats anything! And—there isn't any dampness!"

"Insulation," I explained, "or whatever it is that keeps out dampness. Unfortunately, I am not mechanically minded. But father spared no expense in equipping this place for healthful living. He said it was a safeguard for our lifetimes."

"It looks as if it might play a part very soon," Hugh said. "I suppose the two boys are the guardians of the hide-out."

"Yes, and very faithful they are, too," I said. "That is the reason I can go to New York tomorrow morning if you wish me to, with a clear conscience.

Stand Guard

"I shall keep them home from school tomorrow," I said, "and one of them will be on guard downstairs all the time, and one up here. So if the coast guards should come, they will be delayed long enough outside the door for you and Lee Chow to get safely ensconced in here, and all evidence of your being in my father's suite removed."

I stepped over to the refrigerator door and swung it open.

"Taking time by the forelock?" Hugh asked smiling.

"Exactly," I returned. "I'll let it air for a bit. When I return from the Ticers I'll wipe it out, turn on the switch, and later stock it with some emergency foods. Suppose we go back upstairs. We couldn't hear the doorbell in here, and Katie may be hunting for us."

I hastily switched off the electric gadgets, and we hurried back up the winding stairs. I showed Hugh how the spring in the chimney stone worked, switched off the stair lights, and stepped through the entrance into the attic again. We both listened but there was silence all over the house, and I drew a long breath of relief.

"Everything under control," I quoted smiling. "And, now, as soon as I've returned you to your suite, I'll get along to the Ticers."

His voice was hesitating as he replied.

"You feel that you must go to the Ticers yourself?" he asked.

YOUR HEALTH

Nutritional Experiments

I DON'T know whether to call this article "Of Mice and Men" or "Me and the Rats." At any rate some recent experiments on rats seem to link those of us who just trust to appetite and taste in selecting our meals and who are not continually holding a vision of a nutrition table in front of our mind's eye when we sit down to the table.

I reported in this column a few weeks ago an experiment I conducted on myself when at the end of a more or less typical day for me I wrote down exactly what I had for breakfast, lunch and dinner, and the amounts, and then with the help of food tables I figured how close daily requirements laid down by nutritional science came to what I actually had to eat.

I emphasized then, and repeat now, that I made no deliberate selection, in any attempt to match the ideal food table. I ate what came along naturally, what was set before me and in the case of lunch, what looked good on the menu. In fact I did not think of what I was eating at the time and only at the end of the day wrote down from memory the contents and amounts of the food in my meals.

The interesting thing is that if I had tried to eat an ideal day's food intake, ideal from the standpoint say of the National Research Council's Nutritional Requirements, I could hardly have come closer. I, by choice and, if you want to say instinct, took in about 1,500 calories which is about right for a sedentary bloke like me. I had 73 grams of protein, and the ideal is 60 to 75. I had iron, calcium and other minerals galore and about five times as much of every vitamin as the minimum requirements laid down by science.

Some will say that I am regularly receiving the literature of the National Research Council and that I read the requirements and that memory alone and self-preservation induced me to choose as I did. But I don't think so. The lady who selects the food and cooks my meals in my home does not read the bulletins of the National Research Council. I believe that long ingrained interplay between nutritional needs and food supply has conditioned all of us to get an adequate diet. This didn't happen just in my lifetime. Animals, including man, have been conditioning themselves to the available food supply so that appetite and taste (and markets in our present state of civilization) bring them what they need, without worry on their part.

Here is where the rats come in to the argument. Richter, of Johns Hopkins University School of Medicine, kept some rats for 16 days on a diet adequate in all other respects except for Vitamin B. When at the end of this time liver and yeast (Vitamin B substances) were offered to them along with their usual diet, they plunged on the liver and yeast. Rats made diabetic by pancreas removal stopped eating carbohydrate and started eating fat to make up their energy requirement.

As an analogy every physician knows the instinctive craving for salt exhibited by patients with Addison's disease, in which the salt loss is very high. Rats surgically made into Addison's disease subjects will do the same thing.

I do not like to call this instinct because that is a very complicated word. But it is possible that selected appetites in tissues provoke sensations difficult to define which leads to selection of foodstuffs that are needed, just as the easily recognized sensation of appetite leads a hungry man to eat plenty.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Reader:—Would like comment on a news story from "Science," weekly journal of the American Association of Science by Professor Yandell Henderson that the stories about the pulmotor were fakes, that it never saved anyone.

Answer: So far as I know Dr. Henderson's statements are true: they ought to be: he is one of the foremost research workers on resuscitation in the world and in a position to know. Certainly everyone who is regularly brought into contact with accidents requiring resuscitation—firemen, policemen, lifeguards, etc., should learn the prone pressure methods of resuscitation and use it by choice.
